The purpose of the Caltech Women’s Club is to promote friendships and the sharing of mutual interests.

President’s Message

Over the last couple of months, we have had a wonderful start to our centennial year. Our afternoon tea in November honored Greta Millikan and was a fun time to gather together, dress up, eat delicious food, and commemorate the rich history of the CWC. Many thanks to those of you who participated and brought such life and excitement to the afternoon. Our Activity groups are in full swing, and we are excited to have new members joining us as we continue through the year.

Here we are in December, a time when life gets full as we wrap up the term and projects and prepare for winter break. In the midst of all the busyness of the season, we would love for you to join us on December 9th for our Holiday Luncheon. One thing I have noticed over the last few months is how our luncheons and events and open houses lead to new connections and reconnections of people we may have not seen in quite a while. There is little more joyful than seeing a friend from long ago and being reminded that we have a rich history in our friendships. My hope is that in these moments when we gather, whether over tea or a book or on the trail, we find not only old and new friends, but that we are all reminded we are a part of a community. We are a collection of women (and men) who are both diverse and delightfully unique. In our community, we have such resources in each other, for support, for laughter, and for reminding us who we are.

January is pretty quiet, but our activity groups will still be meeting. We also have a special event scheduled for January 28th. It is a tour of Fabulous Fashion at the Pasadena Museum of History, and it will fit nicely with our historic focus during this centennial year. Please also keep in mind an exciting family event on February 27th when we will have a special talk and art activity with Keika Yamaguchi. This will be a great time for everyone to learn more about how amazing illustrations make their way into great books. Enjoy your holidays, and we look forward to celebrating more in the New Year!

“This is my wish for you: peace of mind, prosperity through the year, happiness that multiplies, health for you and yours, fun around every corner, energy to chase your dreams, joy to fill your holidays!”
- D.M. Dellinger

Brooke Anderson

Issue Highlights

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Page</th>
<th>Event</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>5</td>
<td>CWC Afternoon Tea</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6-7</td>
<td>A Century of Sharing</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>9</td>
<td>Caltech Y Centennial</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11</td>
<td>Americana Wine Tasting</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11</td>
<td>Garden Adventures Tour</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>11</td>
<td>CWC Activities Fair</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Save the Date

December 9
Holiday Luncheon, 11:30 am - 1:30 pm, the Athenaeum

January 28
Fabulous Fashion, 10:45 am, Pasadena Museum of History

February 27
A Morning with Keika Yamaguchi, 10:00 - 11:30 am, Winnett Lounge
For updated calendar information, see www.cwclub.caltech.edu.

CWC BOARD MEETING
Wednesday, December 2, 11:30 am to 1:00 pm, Millikan Board Room.
All are welcome. No meeting in January 2016.
Childcare is available during CWC Board meetings but reservations need to be made in advance. Email Melanie Coyne (melcoyne@caltech.edu) or call 818-354-3418 no later than Monday 12 noon before each Wednesday board meeting. Please provide the age and name/s of your child/ren.

CATS STUDY AND BUSINESS MEETING
Tuesday, December 1 and Tuesday, January 5, Athenaeum Mezzanine.
Study Session: 10:30 am to noon.
Business Meeting: noon to 1:00 pm.
Contact: Romy Wyllie (626-794-7773).

CATS CAMPUS TOURS
Thursday, January 28, 10:30 am.
Tours last between 1.5 and 2 hours.
Meet at the Athenaeum, 551 S. Hill.
To make a reservation, contact James Muro (626-395-4654), or complete the reservation form on cats.caltech.edu.

PLAYGROUP EMAIL LIST
To be added to the Playgroup mailing list, email playgroup@caltech.edu.

CWC PLAYGROUP
Tuesdays, 10:00 am to noon, Tournament Park. Contact: Karla Horst (kghorst@gmail.com).

TOY LIBRARY & HOUSEHOLD EQUIPMENT LOAN POOL / FURNITURE POOL
Open every Tuesday from 4:00 pm to 6:00 pm and Thursday from 10:00 am to 12:00 pm (except holidays). 234 S. Catalina Ave., rear house. Contact: furnpool@caltech.edu.

ACTIVITIES AND INTEREST GROUPS

MORNING BOOK DISCUSSION GROUP
Monday January 11, Everything I Never Told You, by Celeste Ng.
Meet for breakfast at the Athenaeum (membership of the Athenaeum is required to order breakfast), 8:00 am. Contact: Micheline Vogt (626-794-7823) by the Tuesday prior to the meeting date to make a reservation.

BOOK LOVERS’ SOIRÉE
Monday December 14, In the Unlikely Event, by Judy Blume. Monday January 11, Flight Behavior by Barbara Kingsolver. 7:30 to 9:00 pm, Rathskeller. Contact: Sonya Wierman (sonyawierman@gmail.com), Barbara Weber (818-790-2159, gobarbweb@gmail.com) or Laurie Yeomans (818-790-4984, leyeomans@hotmail.com).

CALTECH WOMEN’S INVESTMENT GROUP
Wednesday, December 3 and Wednesday January 27, 7:00 pm.
Any guest wishing to attend a CWIC meeting needs to RSVP. Contact: Barbara Weber (818-790-2159, gobarbweb@gmail.com).

CONVERSATIONAL ENGLISH
Tuesdays, 10:30 am - 12:30 pm, Brown Gym. Contact: Marian D’Elia, Julie D’Elia (Julie.delia@yahoo.co.uk).

HIKING GROUP
December 2015 Hike
Thursday, December 17, 8:30 am from Chantry Flat (Sierra Madre) Winter Creek Loop to Hoegees Camp. Deep lush wooded canyon, peaceful shady little stream. Forget the city! 5 miles round hike, 620 feet elevation gain.
We can carpool from the REI shop parking lot. Corner of N. Santa Anita Ave and E. Santa Clara St. in Arcadia.

January 2016 Hike
Thursday, January 21, 8:30 am Beaudry Loop in the Verdugo Mt. 5.8 miles round hike, 1368 feet elevation gain. 360 degree view from the top.
How to get there: take CA-2 north. Exit Mountain St., turn left. In 0.5 miles turn right on Verdugo Road, which becomes Canada Blvd. In 1.8 miles turn left on Country Club Dr. and follow it for 0.4 miles. Take a left on Beaudry Blvd. Drive another 0.4 miles to the trailhead. Park on the street. Contact: Eva Schilk (schilk8@gmail.com)

CALTECH PLAYREADERS
No readings in December 2015 and January 2016.

WINE TASTERS
Wine tasting events are held at gracious hostesses’ homes and feature potluck dinners, usually based on a theme. To receive information on upcoming wine tasting events contact Sara Tompson (saratifr@gmail.com) or Lauren Halatek (halatekl@gmail.com).

ANNUAL EVENTS AND PROGRAMS

HOLIDAY LUNCHEON
Wednesday December 9, 11:30 am - 1:30 pm, the Athenaeum. See page 3.

FABULOUS FASHION
Thursday January 28, 10:45 am, Pasadena Museum of History. See page 10.

A MORNING WITH KEIKA YAMAGUCHI
Saturday February 27, 10:00 am, Winnett Lounge. See page 13.
Caltech Women’s Club Centennial Holiday Luncheon

Wednesday December 9, 2015
11:30 AM to 1:30 PM at the Athenaeum

$36 for faculty/staff and guests
$25 for post-docs/students/spouses and guests

Reservation forms & payments are due no later than Tuesday Dec. 1

Member Name: ________________________________________________________________

Guest/Spouse name(s) _________________________________________________________

No. of faculty/staff/spouses and guests: _______ x $36 = $_______
No. of students/postdocs and guests _______ x $25 = $_______

Total No. of Attendees: ____________ Total Amount Enclosed: $___________

No. of Vegetarian Meals________

Member’s phone# & email address:
______________________________________________________________

Please return completed reservation form and check payable to Caltech Women’s Club

Caltech Women’s Club, California Institute of Technology
Attn: Holiday Luncheon
1200 E. California Blvd., Mail Code 104B
Pasadena, CA 91125
Caughey & Luczyski
Serving Pasadena with
Over 80 Years of Combined
Real Estate Experience

Cynthia Luczyski
dre# 0110082

Jane Caughey
dre# 00361673

Lauren Luczyski
dre# 01441706

with deasy/penner&partners
626.793.0313
homeasart.com
CALTECH WOMEN’S CLUB AFTERNOON TEA

by Marcia Brown, photos by Bill Weber

It might not be too far from the truth to say that the CWC held a birthday party for the club at its November Centennial Tea. I joined the Caltech Women’s Club during the 90th anniversary celebration and several of the events that year included discussions of the history of the club. I distinctly remember hearing about Mrs. Millikan’s expectations for appropriate attire (hats and gloves) and behavior during the club teas. Those teas sounded a bit daunting, especially for someone new to campus. Our Centennial Tea was a delightful celebration of the club; there was plenty of time to visit with friends and socialize and also enjoy the Athenaeum’s famous scones, tea sandwiches and decadent assortment of sweets.

In addition to the celebration, the tea included a short club history and introduction by Brooke Anderson to Mrs. Millikan’s enthusiasm toward tea. Greta Milliken hosted Caltech students at tea at their home, offering them an opportunity to refine their etiquette and grooming and also an opportunity to interact with faculty and other scientists outside the lecture hall. Through her teas, she brought members of the community together to cultivate new ideas and build new relationships. Mrs. Millikan also held high standards for the teas hosted for the Caltech Women’s Club.

The Centennial Tea was organized by committee members Brooke Anderson, Donna Burdick, Judy Collins, Mariella Soprano and Barbara Weber; in addition to the Tea, many hours of time went into preparing display boards describing the history of the club. Excerpts from these history boards will be included soon on the Caltech Women’s Club website. During the tea, the boards were displayed near a “History Table” featuring a display of vintage photos from the Women’s Club archives and other unique items. One of my favorite elements was learning that Mrs. Millikan wrote the forward to the 1937 book Tea Time written by Lady Adams. To me, this again showed that she loved the event of tea but that it was also a way to build and fortify relationships (along with that concern for etiquette and grooming).

The History Table was also a demonstration of the significant changes that happened at Caltech, in science and the world during Millikan’s tenure (1921 to 1945). A special thank you to the Caltech Archives, Loma Karklins, and Iryna Chatila for their help in putting the History Boards together. Many members also attended the tea in beautiful vintage clothes, properly attired in hats and gloves. One additional special thank you to Bill Weber for capturing the afternoon in photos.
1940 – 1970: Flexibility

In November 1940, Women’s Club members listened to a program titled “Life and Literature.” It’s probable everyone’s thoughts turned more toward Life than Literature. Nazi Germany had just begun its months-long Blitzkrieg bombing of Britain and a collection that day went toward British War Relief and the Red Cross.

Not long before, Germany had marched forth on its takeover of Europe. Though most eyes were therefore turned east, the attack on the United States came from the west. In 1941, Japan bombed Hawaii’s Pearl Harbor, plunging the United States into the hostilities of World War II.

A scant quarter-century earlier, young Throop Institute of Technology had gone to war footing. Now, the California Institute of Technology did the same, hosting hundreds of researchers and trainees, developing anti-submarine weapons, and partnering with the Army to develop rockets at the new Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

At the end of the battles in 1945, science and Caltech faced a changed world. After twenty-five years, Robert Millikan retired as chair of the executive council. The next year, Lee DuBridge assumed Caltech’s presidency.

DuBridge exemplified the changes. He had been in charge of the critically important Radiation Laboratory at MIT for RADAR during the war and understood what was becoming known as “big science.” Previously, most funding had come through private philanthropic sources. Now, larger projects meant that only the government had the resources for things such as the synchrotron that for two decades investigated high energy nuclear physics on the south edge of campus.

The Women’s Club was enmeshed in these changes. The 1920s is the acknowledged heyday of women’s clubs, but after the War, increased prosperity and women leaving the work force heralded a new strength in organized social activity. It was fortuitous, because Doris DuBridge, the new first lady of the Institute, made it part of her mission to give the influx of newcomers a warm welcome.

Club members, mindful that they too were once strangers on campus, stepped up with not just one, but two new groups: “Newcomers,” for first and second year newcomers, and “Evening Social Group” for third year newcomers and those who could not attend the regular meeting.

Faced with new commitments and increased complexity, the Club wrote its first constitution. The original 1946 version has been lost, but its mission was clearly stated: “The object of the Club shall be to promote friendliness and the sharing of mutual interests.” Membership included not only wives, but also mothers of the faculty and administrative staff of Caltech, Mount Wilson and Palomar Observatories, and the Huntington Library.

Halfway through DuBridge’s tenure at Caltech, the world woke up one morning in October 1957 to the news that the Russians had launched the first orbiting satellite, known as Sputnik. The country’s science community was shaken—we thought we were “first.”

The Army relinquished the Jet Propulsion Laboratory to the civilian control of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Caltech, as administrator, formed the third leg of the management triangle. Four months later, the JPL-built earth-orbiting spacecraft Explorer 1 blasted off from Cape Canaveral.

The Cold War so-called space race was on. To make up for lost time, funding poured into United States research and fostered the growth of science as a whole. Caltech benefited with a dozen new buildings.

Another less-noticed event affected the lives of researchers—and their families. The advent of jet travel in 1958 lessened the time it took to get...
Fifty years earlier, the first wave of feminism won women the right to vote. The second wave is largely dated to 1963, when Betty Friedan’s The Feminine Mystique caused widespread controversy and comment. It heralded not only an examination of women’s lives but also their increasingly active roles in the workforce and society. Experience in women’s organizations proved invaluable in these wider arenas.

The changes took years to fully manifest themselves. Throughout it all, the Women’s Club provided a forum for discussion, support, and exploration. Increasingly, it served as a matrix for diverse activity groups. Members met to review current books. Playreaders held scripts and waded into drama of the day. And as an early indication of a need that was as yet unmet, in 1960 a Mother-Child Playgroup gathered.

Colene Brown, the Institute’s new first lady, had a seemingly infallible memory for the names of people—and their children. She understood how fascinating Caltech was to the wider community of Los Angeles and instituted a popular series of programs for area women.

One of the seminal books on women’s lives in America had shortly before appeared on bookstore shelves.

After a quarter-century of service, Lee DuBridge retired in 1969 as president of Caltech and journeyed to Washington to become Presidential Science Advisor. Then, on an unusual and heady day even for the Institute, Caltech’s second Nobel Prize of the year made the news and Harold Brown, a physicist and former Secretary of the Air Force, was inaugurated.

Notes.

1. This is adapted from a 2005 talk for the Women’s Club 90th Birthday.
2. Every first lady of Caltech forges her own way. Doris DuBridge made it her mission to be sure newcomers felt welcome. After her death in 1973, for some years the Welcoming Day was in fact called Doris DuBridge Day.
Open House

CWC members met bright and early on a November morning for an Open House outside the Red Door Cafe. Longtime members and newer arrivals gathered for tea, coffee and good conversation. Look out for announcements for the next Open House in 2016.

Liz Jackman

Welcome New and Returning Members!

Welcome to our recently joined new members and our returning members. We hope to see you soon at our programs and events!

Michele Ahern
Shannon Barger
Cameron Bellm
Elizaveta Bradulina
Shulamit Chang
Catherine Geard
Charmagne Herlien
Carol Hunt
Kimberly Linares
Anja Lovvik
Jan Muntz
Dimity Nelson
Andrea Olson

CWC Donors

CWC is blessed to have many generous members who make a donation to the club along with their membership dues.

These donations are used to subsidize some of the expenses of our programs and activities that are not covered by fees and our dues.

Many thanks to our donors:
   Michele Ahern
   Jane Caughey
   Ann Munger
   Jan Muntz
   Cynthia Yung
The Caltech Y congratulates the CWC in reaching their historical centennial anniversary. We are honored to share the same centennial year. For the past century, the Caltech Y and the CWC have served the Caltech community in complementary ways.

The Caltech Y was founded in 1916 as a student chapter of the national YMCA, the Young Men’s Christian Association. From the start, the students chose to de-emphasize the religious aspect of the Y in favor of social services. The motto became, “Here to Serve.” During WWI, the Y provided refreshments and other services for soldiers training on Caltech’s campus and at the Santa Anita Racetrack. During its early history, the Y started New Student Orientation, the undergraduate handbook known as the little t and Frosh Camp, which all continue to this day.

When WWII came, the Y supplied speakers catering to students’ interests such as peace movements, government reforms, labor issues, and other moral and political questions. The Women’s Club was also involved by donating to the Red Cross and the British War Relief. The war was a source of great anxiety for everyone on campus. At the end of the War Robert Millikan retired, Lee DuBridge became the President, and Wes Hershey became the Executive Director of the Caltech Y. Hershey proclaimed a new motto, “If there is a need, we will fill it.” In 1951, The Leaders of America series was established and brought renowned speakers to campus such as Martin Luther King, Jr., Walter Reuther, and Justice William O. Douglas. Robert Millikan attended several of the lectures and came away deeply impressed; it was a major factor in his bequeathing $100,000 - the bulk of his estate - to the Y to further its programs.

The 1960s was a tumultuous time in the nation and at Caltech. The Y provided forums for discussions and action on racial issues and the Vietnam War, hosting the China Institute and “The Ghetto and the City,” which addressed civil rights and racism in the US. As the Big T observed, “The Y is one of the largest and by far the most active organization on campus.” It was also in the 1960s that the Caltech Y tutoring program began which continues to this day.

The 1970s marked the arrival of female undergraduates and the separation of the Caltech Y with the national YMCA. The Y Board of Directors realized that not all Y students were young, men, or Christian; therefore, the Board voted to withdraw the Caltech organization from the National YMCA. This separation was friendly, and the name “Caltech Y” remained.

From the 1980s to today, the Y has continued to expand on its programs and offerings from discounted movie tickets and equipment rentals to international trips to India and Costa Rica. Today, the Y’s mission is to enrich student life and create engaged citizens of the World. However, many programs and services are open to the entire Caltech community. The Y hosts engaging speakers through the Social Activism Speakers Series, holds social events such as Decompression, Explore LA and World Fest, and provides numerous service opportunities to Caltech students through partnerships with the Pasadena Unified School District, Hathaway Sycamores, Union Station and many other community partners. David Baltimore, former Caltech President and Nobel Laureate has said,

“I am deeply thankful for the Y. The Y has been called the soul of Caltech, and has become known as the social consciousness of the campus…. Our students are amazing people, gifted with mighty intelligence and the drive to excel. We owe them a student life that looks at the whole person; we owe them a campus that respects and emphasizes human growth in all its bewildering and intriguing permutations. And we owe them an organization like the Y that is concerned with this most essential of all activities.”

To learn more about the Y’s history visit caltechy100.org or watch the Y’s centennial video below, directed by Caltech alum Iram Parveen Bilal.

Sources: Caltech Archives & Caltech Y 75th Year Booklet.

Watch at: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=TLzlgFKZS8E&feature=youtu.be Celebrate our Centennial Year with a Special Guided Tour of Fabulous Fashion

Pasadena Museum of History
470 West Walnut Avenue, Pasadena
Followed by Wine & Cheese
Thursday, January 28th, 2016
10:45am

From the uncomfortable corsets and ornate bodices of the 1890s to the deconstructed freedom of the 1920s to the full skirts and bullet bras of the 1950s, fashion trends in Pasadena followed the rest of the country. This exhibition highlights women’s clothing worn from morning to night, comparing these three memorable decades. The exhibition features garments from Pasadena Museum of History’s extensive Costume and Textile Collection, plus period accessories and household objects.

Questions? Contact Katie Clark at (626) 710-0514 or ktclark@caltech.edu. Admission is $20. Attendance is limited. Priority will go to those who RSVP early with payment.
RSVP deadline: Friday January 15th, 2016

Thursday, January 28th — Fabulous Fashion – RSVP Deadline Friday, January 15th

Please send in this reservation form and a check payable to the Caltech Women’s Club to Katie Clark, 2016 Oak Street, South Pasadena, CA 91030

Name ____________________________ Telephone number _____________________
Email __________________________________________________________
Guest Name(s) _______________________________________________________
$20 per person x ____________ = ___________
Garden Adventures

On a beautiful Fall morning we gathered at the big yellow house in Sierra Madre for our tour of the historic E. Waldo Ward Gourmet Foods ranch in Sierra Madre. Our host Jeff Ward is the 4th generation behind this business that began making marmalade for the railroad dining cars in 1918. We walked upstairs to the gift shop to start our visit.

Huge vintage kettles and conveyor belts fill the immaculate kitchen. They grow most of the citrus used for the marmalades on their three-and-a-half acre property. The second room was packed with filled jars in labeled boxes. We were amazed at all of the products—from olives to watermelon rinds to spicy barbeque sauces to numerous jams and marmalades.

We also visited the historic museum in the old red barn with many old utensils, tools, signs and photos. Some of the peelers and grinders reminded us of our parents’ and grandparents’ kitchens. Outside we briefly looked at some of the special Seville orange trees.

History, food and a good local business were celebrated with a stop at the gift shop to order some tasty foods to take home to share with our families. I wish to thank to the Ward family for presenting such an interesting tour.

Kathleen Slater

---

Americana Wine Tasting Event

The Caltech Women’s Club Wine Tasters Activity Group kicked off the 2015-16 season with a tasting at JPLer Kelly Moran’s home in Monrovia, co-hosted by group coordinator Sara Tompson.

The theme was Americana, and we tasted red and white wines from North and South America. The winner was “Buccaneer Dead Drift,” a red blend, with La Pincoya Sauvignon Blanc coming in second.

The group has tentative plans for tastings at a hostess’s home in November and at a Monrovia restaurant in January.

Caltech Women’s Club Activities Fair

The Activities Fair was a great evening that showcased all of the wonderful activity groups that the CWC offers to the Caltech community. This year, the event was held as a stand-alone event in the early evening in Dabney Lounge. Each of the activity groups were featured, and representatives from the Caltech Y and the Child Educational Center Co-op also took part in the event. It was a well-attended, low-key affair with food and drink, games and crafts for children, and door prizes. Congratulations to our three door prize winners, Terri Anderson, Liza Bradulina, and Leta McDowall!

Many thanks to Sandhya Ravichandran, Marcia Brown, Parvin Forouhar, and Wafa Abidi for their help, both setting up and during the event.

Maria Johnson Kriechbaum
Our Parenting Place
where parents and children are nurtured
Parent-n-Me Classes for 0-3 Year Olds

RIE’s Educaring™ Approach encourages children to be:
✓ Focused
✓ Secure
✓ Aware ✓ Confident ✓ Inner–directed

www.ourparentingplace.com

Come Join Us

Infant-Toddler & Preschool
in La Canada
Ages 6 weeks to 5 years

Cooperative Preschool
at Caltech
Ages 2½ - 5
Now Open to All Community Members

School Age Programs
in La Canada & at Caltech
Kindergarten - Grade 6
• Homework Support
• Sports & Games
• Time with Friends
• Special Interest Clubs & Activities

To apply:
(818) 354-3418
céconline.org

FOOTHILLS MUSIC TOGETHER
SINCE 1997

MUSIC TOGETHER®
10-WEEK WINTER SESSION BEGINS JANUARY
FREE PASADENA DEMO CLASS
Friday, January 8th at 9:30AM

Music • Movement • Instrument Play
Research-Based Music Classes for Newborn through Kindergarten & the Adults Who Love Them

Additional Locations Throughout Area:
Atwater Village, Burbank, Glendale, La Cañada, Los Feliz, Montrose, San Marino, Sierra Madre & South Pasadena

RSVP: 626-398-4159
www.foothillsmusictogether.com

This Holiday Season Give the GIFT of MUSIC!
SAVE THE DATE
A MORNING WITH KEIKA YAMAGUCHI

Bring the family to meet this picture book illustrator and do a fun art activity.

Winnet Lounge
Saturday, Feb. 27th, 2016
10:00 – 11:30 AM

Watch the CWC website and the next bulletin for more details and to RSVP.

CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS
FURNITURE POOL/TOY LIBRARY
Volunteers are needed to help organize or clean items at the Furniture Pool/Toy Library. If you are interested, please email Maria Johnson Kriechbaum (mkriech@gmail.com).

MEALS FOR MOMS
A coordinator is needed for the Meals for Moms program to help arrange meals for new moms. Email Ella Cameron (ellacameron@gmail.com) for more information.
Earnest C. Watson Lecture Series
WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 2, 2015 / 8 PM
“COMPLEX QUANTUM COSMOS: Science Puzzles and Technology Solutions”
Maria Spiropulu
Professor of Physics
Free

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 6, 2015 • 2 PM
ICE WORLDS
Discussion Leader: Jennifer Walker
Science Sundays
$10 (unreserved seating)

SUNDAY, DECEMBER 12, 2015 • 8 PM
MARK O’CONNOR – An Appalachian Christmas
$45, 40, 35 / $10 Youth

Ask about your Caltech discount.
All events will be held in Beckman Auditorium.
Call for tickets: (626) 395-4652  www.events.caltech.edu
It’s Never Too Late to Join the CWC!

Membership Contact: Maria Johnson Kriechbaum, mkriech@gmail.com, 626-755-4476. Membership in the Caltech Women’s Club is open to anyone who is affiliated with Caltech, JPL, the Huntington Library, the affiliated observatories, or the Caltech Associates. The CWC has a diverse membership of about 250 women (and a few men), with many international members, and a broad range of ages – from students, to members who have been in the club for more than 20 years. Membership dues are $25 per year with electronic delivery of the Bulletin; $40 with printed delivery of the Bulletin; $10 for postdocs with electronic Bulletin and $25 with printed delivery of the Bulletin, and free for students with electronic delivery.

CWC Bulletin Contact: Liz Jackman, ljackman@caltech.edu, 626-395-6163. The Bulletin is published each month between October and May (except for January). Items that you think would be of interest to the membership are always welcome. Our next issue will be published at the beginning of February. To help defray the cost of publishing, the Bulletin carries advertisements that are sponsored by, and may be of interest to, our members. The cost of adverts can be found on our website under “Publications.” If you would like to place an ad in the Bulletin, please contact the Bulletin Business Editor, Liz Jackman.

Website Contact: Marcia Brown, marciab@caltech.edu, 626-345-1956. The CWC website is www.cwclub.caltech.edu. Go to the website for information on upcoming events and downloadable reservation forms for CWC events. To post information about an event or activity, contact Marcia.

CWC Pasadena Area Guide Contact: Karen Brunschwig, kabrunschwig@gmail.com. The Pasadena Area Guide is a resource for both newcomers and longtime members. It features recommendations for services, restaurants, shops, and activities, as well as useful information about the local area, and opportunities for volunteers. The guide is on the web at www.cwclub.caltech.edu/publications/area-guide.html. Please email your additions, revisions, or deletions to the Area Guide Editor, Karen Brunschwig. Thank you for helping to make the Guide a valuable resource for the members of our community.

The purpose of the Caltech Women’s Club is to promote friendships and the sharing of mutual interests.

Executive Board 2015-2016

President Brooke Anderson brooke.anderson@caltech.edu, 717-682-1152

Vice-President Katie Clark ktclark@caltech.edu, 626-403-7163

Secretary Connie Shair clshair@icloud.com, 626-798-5720

Treasurer Liz Fischer gentryfischer@gmail.com, 617-833-8490

Bulletin Editor Liz Jackman, ljackman@caltech.edu, 626-395-6163

A Look Back in CWC History

Mrs. Clapp gives resume

History of Club Told at Meeting

California Institute of Technology
Women’s Club held the regular meeting at the Athenaeum; in the Hall of the Associates Wednesday.

An uncredited 1931 clipping in a fragile notebook is the only indication of the date of the CWC’s founding. Early meetings were teas in members’ homes. Courtesy Caltech Archives.